

Introduction

Soil Stabilization Innovations (SSI) is America's premium brand for dust control & haul road management programs. SSI is associated with FATbit since 2015. FATbit has developed their two different websites and is affiliated with them for improving their web presence as well, and journey since then is abiding.

Bottlenecks

- Client had changed the brand name & domain name. So the major challenge was regaining the old reputation & optimizing the old domain to rank in search results.
- Brand Name "Soil Stabilization Innovations" was highly competitive and other brands were ranking higher in search results.
- Since their business model is traditional, there is stiff competition in organic search results. On some keywords there was a direct competition with Amazon in search results.
- Their business presence wasn't very with the new brand name.

Light at the End of the Tunnel

We aligned ourselves with the client's business objectives and developed a keyword strategy to publish future proof content that would help to create long-term value, position the brand higher in the industry, generate leads and ultimately convert them into clients.

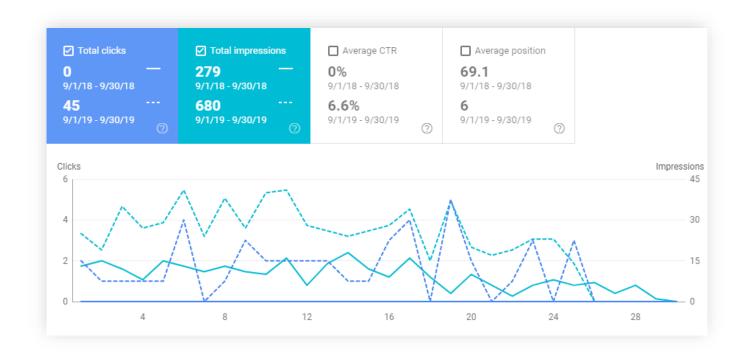

We made several SEO changes on the old and the new domain to establish the connection between the two. We took charge of every aspect of the website and it was evident that the organic traffic gained by the website was the outcome of SEO work we were executing. We recommended the best SEO practices at every step of the way and the results were impressive.
